www.familyfriendlyenter.com

Crab races are great fun for everyone. Here's how it works: First you pick the crab you think is the fastest. Each crab has a number on his shell. Put your entry slip in the bucket on Krabby's race board that matches the number on the crab's shell. Next sit back and watch the fun begin. All of the crabs begin the race in the start circle. With a few squirts of water to get them going, they start hauling shell! The first crab to have one pincher over the outside circle wins.

Great for all night grad parties and college events!

Our first Dangerous Hunts game was such a big success that we couldn't help but improve on it for this holiday season! In Dangerous Hunts 2, you're going up against animals that are just as likely to be hunting you; this time, however, things are a lot more vicious. You'll embark on 12 epic adventures that have you tracking and trying to take down the most dangerous and aggressive animals in the world - animals that have committed brutal offenses against your fellow man. In this story-based adventure, you play an expert hunter, a hunter brave enough to take on the world's most vicious predators on their own turf. For the first time ever, hunt from a helicopter or truck in regions never before seen in a hunting game - Russia, Argentina and India. Stalk through the long grass in the desert, chop through the jungle, and hike through the Alaskan mountains in an adventure that truly does span the globe. You'll use all-new gear to take on unique challenges, such as tranquilizing enraged elephants and using blow darts to slow down vicious Bengal tigers. Go one-on-one with new animals like the Australian scrub bull and Asiatic black bear, but keep an eye on your gear - ammunition is limited, so every shot will count.

Simple Olde World Charm, from days gone by. Thrill to holding and interacting with Mr. Monk. He and his friend Bill Hoffmann, make up a duo that have been seen around the world. This duo will attract people to your event like a furry magnet. A monkey handshake is a novelty they won't soon forget!

Elephant Ears & (FUNNEL CAKE)

Funnel Cake

Elephant Ear

Elephant Ears and or Funnel Cakes are always a hit at a event!

How is a funnel cake different from an elephant ear, another deep-fried fair staple? The elephant ear is fried, flattened dough inspired by the fry bread of the American Indians of the West and named for their big ear shape. Navajo fry bread is served sweet, with powdered sugar or honey, or savory, with chili con carne or cheese on top.

Since funnel cakes and elephant ears are so popular at fairs and flea markets, why don't we see them for sale at mall food courts? Because both must be eaten soon after they are made. They don't hold up well sitting under warming lights.

Hugh DeWitt

Hugh is a veteran musician who has been playing professionally since high school. From his early rock gigs playing at high school dances and American Legion halls, to performances with top regional and national acts, Hugh learned the trade through experience first, and later through formal training.

I worked my way through college by playing in wedding/club bands and giving private music lessons.

Hugh studied at Michigan State and later at Wayne State where he earned a bachelors degree in Jazz and Contemporary Media. Later, he earned an education certificate.

I've always been a teacher. I love showing others how they can express themselves through music.

Hugh has been a music teacher for over 17 years both in the public schools and privately. He has also been active in the West Michigan area presenting improvisation assemblies for middle schools and high schools. He does musical assemblies for elementary students, too.

Although Hugh plays many instruments, these days he focuses on the saxophone.

I'm most expressive on my sax. I feel completely in the moment when I'm onstage performing and improvising for an appreciative audience.

Our Santa is a great way to add fun to the party. Anywhere from a short visit all the way to his Christmas show!

I just wanted to thank you for the excellent job you did at our party as Santa the Magician. Your show was great. From the lighting, to the sound, the music, and your helpers- WOW. (loved the drum duet). Our people are still telling me what a great time their kids had. We just got our pictures back and your helpers really added to the background. They really got into their roles and posed just right. The pictures were so good I was proud to hand them out along with the checks. You may definitely use Litehouse as a reference and tell them to ask for me.

the picnic was a huge success! Everyone has been raving about it! I think all of the events were successful. Mr. Picnic did a great job...I just think it was soooo hot and people kept in the shade just visiting. I was still happy that he had kids and adults participate. The clown was excellent....everything was great. Thank you, again, for helping make this big event successful! Vicky
